

ABSTRACT

A cellphone handset may be excited in a completely differential mode. The antenna, e.g. a simple dipole or a minimal Yagi-Uda with a reflector, may be printed into the printed circuit board. A differential duplexer may be implemented using FBAR technology. The LNA (Low Noise Amplifier) and the PA (Power Amplifier) can both be differential.